To Miss A—K—.

'Tis midnight, and a dreaming hour
Is slowly passing by,
I hear no sound or footstep near
Or the little bird's shrill cry.
But ah, my mind is full of joy,
This happy day's ended.
My heart has been so full of love,
My thoughts on thee were blended.
To live a king, with all his wealth—
Your love I would not give,
Not all the beauty of this earth,
Could happy make me live;
'Tis you, dear Miss, and only you,
To whom my love is given,
Accept it now, or cast it by,
For none so true in Heaven.

Why Women Don't Get Husbands.

"No, not if I know myself," said a fine-looking young fellow to another fine-looking young fellow at Delmonico's, one evening.
"No? and why not?" was his answer. "You have been very sweet on Miss Julia, and it was generally understood that you meant something. Why not?"
"It is generally understood that I, Joseph Howland, bachelor and bank-clerk, am a fool?"
"Not exactly, that," his friend said, laughingly. "But why not? Come!"
"Listen to me, Peter. I, Joseph Howland, bachelor and bank-clerk, am in receipt of two thousand dollars per year, I have tastes, I have wants, I have indulgences, and I have a mother who is poor. As the case stands, I get on with all of these very well. Where should I be if I married Miss Julia, or any other girl that I know?"
"Why—but old Pickles is rich?"
"May-be so; but his money is his own, and he means to keep it. I do not hear that his daughter has a penny."

"Yes, but he would give his daughter something."
"Perhaps—a good wardrobe, a few tea-spoons, a pair of ear-rings—and then! Why Peter, my ample income would not pay for Miss Julia's clothes. Her father does not propose to endow his children until he dies, he may not be worth one penny. Is that pleasant to look at?"
"Not exactly; but you take rather a practical view of matrimony."
"Yes, I do; and I propose to take it before, rather than after. Before it stands: two thousand a year, and all bills paid, after, it stands thus:

House rent,	2,500
Home expenses,	5,000
Clothes, &c.,	1,500
Theaters, churches, &c.,	1,000
	10,000

Where then should I be?"
"Oh, but old Pickles would do something. And, besides, you put the figures too high."

"How do I know that the father would do anything. He has never endowed his daughter. He has brought her up to live at the rates of twelve or fifteen thousand a year; but he has never settled a penny upon her. Do I propose to put myself before him as a beggar? Not if I know myself. Have I put the figures too high? Then have them, and where should I be?"

"Well, it may be all so; but people do get married, somehow—women do something themselves, I guess eh?"
"Not a thing—not a thing. No lady expects or intends to do anything but spend money. Now, Peter, put that in your pipe and smoke it; and do it before you go any further with Miss Foster. No, Peter; women, now, are not worth a tinker's mill-dam—that's what I think."

Such was, in brief, the conversation that I happened to hear one evening at Delmonico's.
It is quite certain that these crowds of pretty creatures, who swarm our streets, who display their charms so charmingly, do not intend to be nuisances to their husbands when they get them; do not deliberately say to themselves, I must be a lady and must spend five or ten thousand dollars a year in doing it; and my husband must get it for me, for I cannot earn one cent for myself. They do not say this, and do not intend to be a load too heavy to bear, and yet—
Let me illustrate. It has been my misfortune to hear such things as this for the last forty years: "Oh, these dreadful servants! What can we do? They do not know how to do a thing; they must be seen to night and day, not a cook that understands her business," &c. Good manners forbade me to say, what perhaps I may be pardoned for saying here: "Ladies, do you know that every man has to see to his business, day and night has to watch over his clerks, has to give directions here and there, again again; has to spend his whole time with his men in the field, in the workshop; and has to work and watch and worry, in order to have his business done properly and promptly?" I might have asked, though I never did: "Ladies, do you know how to do anything? Can you make bread? can you cook a piece of beef? can you cut and make your child's clothes? do you know whether potatoes should be boiled two hours, or twenty minutes? do you know what your meat bills are per month? do you know how much is eaten, and how much is wasted in your house—in fine, do you understand your business?" I have never asked such questions, and I am sure that I should have been told, if I had, that cooking was not their business." If I had been ill-natured—as I am not—I might have said: "Ladies, what is your business?"

Most men prefer to look forward, I cannot myself see far into the future, but a good way into the past. In that past, I see that the patriarch Abraham killed the meat, and Sarah his wife cooked it; that she made cakes and baked them herself for the angelic visitors; and she was not less the princess for having done it. Are we doing any better now? If the man find's the meat might not the woman cook it? Or, if "society" is so changed that she cannot, might she not be an amiable and contented wife—accepting what she gets in gratitude, and a smiling face? I am told by a capering bachelor, that, as a rule, women are pleasanter and livelier with anybody than their husbands. I no longer wonder that matrimony is becoming difficult, and may become impossible.

Now, if matrimony is to become more and more difficult, who will suffer most by such a state of things? It must be woman. For, try to make her into a man, as some may, it is impossible; she is his equal, but she is not a man. The grape-vine and oak are equal, but not the same. Whoever builds his ship with the grape-vine will come to grief; whoever makes wine with the acorn will have a bitter month. Woman needs the strength and courage of man, and he needs her cheerfulness, her sympathy, her consolation. If man does not marry her, he will use her and trample upon her; he does it now in Paris, in London, and in New York. She will be his mistress, if she is not his wife. And then, when she is sick, or ill-tempered, or stupid, he will throw her away. If she is his wife, the mother of his children, the partner of his successes and the consolation of his failures, then, and only as such, will he cherish, defend, and sustain her. Time was when woman was described as the help-meet of man. Was it only a phrase, and meaningless? Possibly; but then, words in the Bible mostly did mean something. The time, too, was and yet is in some quarters of the world, when a woman was a help-meet and accepted and worked up to her position as such. She did not demand anything and do nothing.

Why is marriage easy and universal in such a country as Japan? Life there; is simple; two or three small rooms, a few dishes, a mat upon which to sleep, one dress, a little rice, and some fruit—these suffice for all—rich and poor alike, in a great city like Yeddo, which has a civilization as perfect and as old as ours. And it is not a life of stupidity or barbarism, all can read and write; manners are good; books and pictures plenty; theaters abound; processions and festivals enliven life. It is easy to see, therefore, why marriage is not a fearful thing in the far-off land; and, by contrast, it is easy to understand why few have the courage to dare it here.

This strange and most perplexing question has led me to ask, from one of our most accomplished modists, a few figures. I asked her, what is the finest tressouze you make? What is it the few very richest people here in New York think it best for their daughters to have, when they marry?

I received a very polite and civil reply, which was—I must admit it—startled me. She said: "In Paris, the upper classes, the aristocracy, &c., appropriate from fifty to sixty thousand francs for a tressouze, not including jewels. Here, this kind of thing is not uncommon, though not frequent."

So surprised was I with these figures, that I went to a lady who moves among those who call themselves "fashionable," to learn her views. She made her figures at my request, and said: "A very nice outfit could be had for $2,000; and that $1,000 would do very well, indeed. I was consoled, for many of my friends have daughters. She told me, however, that a very fine person—Miss L—had just been married, "who was worth, as she stood at the altar, $25,000."

It is quite certain—and every honest woman will agree with me—that the spending of money does not insure happiness. It is quite certain that the superb wardrobe I have heretofore set down does not in any perceptible degree insure a blissful marriage; that wealth even does not insure it in any known degree, and yet these influences are poisoning society, and driving people into strange courses; one of which leads to vice, another to celibacy, and all to selfishness and ruin.
It is not necessary, I believe, to assert that I am a friend of woman. It is because I am so deeply and devotedly her champion and admirer, that I write this sermon. And as I am writing it, let me say that, while Miss Susan Anthony, and Mrs. George Train are clamoring for women to vote, and to work, and to sing bass if they wish, we are clamoring for her right to be a wife and mother; which the tendencies of the times threatened to rob her of. We ask her to stand for that—to insist upon that forever. We affirm, and challenge the world in its delirium, that woman is the equal of man, but not the same—by no manner of means; quite, quite other than man; not intended by the Creator to be the same, or to act in the same sphere, or do the same work. Our manish women or womanish men have got into a sad confusion of ideas in their efforts at a sensation, which seems likely to be a failure. Clear up that confusion. Woman and men are equal but not the same; each completes the other. There is no perfect man, and no perfect woman, without marriage and children. Each completes and perfects the other, or would do so were marriage what it was intended to be. One step further; man can do his work best, and woman can do her work best; but the question is, and a vital one too, what is his work and what is her work.

Miss Anthony and Mrs. Train, if I understand them, claim that woman can do just what man does, and has a right to do it—and can do it as well. Now I claim and assert that man cannot do just what a woman can do, nor do it as well; and a part of it he cannot do at all. I claim that the great function of woman is to be a loyal wife and a loving mother; and I defy the world to prove that a man can do that at all. I assert that there is no work in this world equal or comparable to the production of the royal race of men and women; and that I affirm to be the greatest, noblest, noblest work a woman can do. I affirm that no woman, be she a doctor, artist, writer, law-maker, or soldier, can do anything comparable to that; I affirm that the very moment she abandons her great work, and attempts to do the work of man, she is likely to fall; and if she proposes to subvert the laws of her own being, which are the laws of her Creator, she will go to the wall.

In the great business of the world, woman cannot compete with man, because she cannot do them as well. She is a perpetual invalid; as all know, and cannot be relied upon to do man's work year in and year out; that is one great fact of her existence which cannot be ignored, and it settles the question, if nothing else did it, of her inability to compete with man. There is no world's work in which she is equal to man; not even in some directions where men fancy she is supreme. Men invents and works out even the fashion plates which show woman how she is to dress herself; and even in cutting and making her own dresses, man is her superior.

One small fact will explain this curious inability to do business; for several thousand years, women has insisted on buttoning her own clothes, and her children's clothes behind; so that by no possibility can it dress themselves without help. It is most curious and significant.

I may grant and must grant that a woman does now and then do perfect work out of her home, but I must believe it to be unexceptionable. She has not the fibre to compete with man; her skin and her flesh and her very bones are different. Now, what does this mean? Does it mean that man is unjust to woman, or is it God who is accused? [No, this revulsion which is going on in civilized societies against marriage is significant of much; and its evils will fall first and heaviest upon woman. What, then, can she do to protect herself? That is the vital question. She wishes to get married, or she ought to; how can she secure it? Not by being a spend thrift, not by being incompetent for the great business of wife and mother, not by being careless and indifferent to all the world but herself, not by being a fault-finding and dissatisfied woman. Just the reverse of these will insure marriage. But now we come to a difficult, almost unmanageable question; how are those who do not or cannot or will not marry, to live? Some occupations they must have, and I believe they are not competent to cope with man in the great business of the world. If they are, if they wish to, there is nothing to hinder—the great businesses are all open; as merchant, manufacturer, farmer, writer, publisher, &c., nothing can prevent her success if she has it in her to do it. But if she is to expect marriage and then drop her business she will never do it thoroughly and successfully. It has been tried, and has always failed. But who will hinder her from attempting and filling any part she can fill, and will? Who will hesitate to pay her the same wages for the same work, as a man? Let a woman manufacture as good locomotives, or import as good teas, or produce as good wheat, or grow as good wheat, as a man, and she can command the same price. But if she rushes into the businesses which are over-stocked, she must take what wages she can get, and it will be poor; or if she be a poor careless workman, she will go to the wall, of course. There is no pity in the laws of God, not much in the hearts of man.

THE CYNTHIANA NEWS

CYNTHIANA, KY.
THURSDAY, : : : March 26, 1868.
A. J. MOREY, Editor.

FOR GOVERNOR
J. W. Stevenson,
OF KENTON.

The Future of Kentucky Democracy.

When we look forward to the future of our party, we are not transported with delight at the picture presented to our mental vision, although so greatly in the ascendant now. When that self imposed mission of the whole national party is performed—the restoration of constitutional liberty to an outraged people, at present suffering all the oppressive burdens of Radical misrule—the cohesive attraction of a common interest against a common foe will cease, and leave us no longer a unit in sentiment or action. The present party is composed of all elements of opposition to Radicalism, and necessarily embodies men of all creeds, as they were known before our late civil war; and when the great victory shall be won, as in our opinion it will next November, those old questions of party policy will inevitably intrude themselves upon us for decision; then we shall see the heterogeneous mixture as it by chemical process, developing and dividing the incompatible. The "old liners," squaring themselves in defense or advocacy of their original views on tariffs, banks, &c., with as much vim and energy as ever before. Fortunately the Radicals have given us a surfeit of those luxuries enabling men to see the practical result of all such legislation as has for its objects the fostering of particular industrial or financial enterprises, therefore the lines cannot be drawn where they once were, but still the defection will be great.

The late incorporation of the 1-3 party with the Democratic, after its persistent efforts, and failing to divide our strength, which brought upon them the taunts and jeers of a not-to-be-humbled people, can result in no good to us. We are not in favor of discarding the aid of true workers, but these men being all leaders, full of ambition and lust for place and power, will, we fear, exemplify their ruling passions by creating cisms among those who could find no virtue in Democracy, until the bayonet of proscriptive tyranny forced them with us as the most congenial company then to be found.

If these men will work earnestly for the success of true Democratic principles, and thereby prove their faith, in the fullness of time, they shall be rewarded as they deserve. But we may well question the sincerity of those who come to us with both hands extended in supplication to the dear people for office.

If Democracy is right now, it was always right.

Her principles have always been the same, and those who never recognized their virtues until now, must concede the superior foresight of old advocates, and should not complain if the people prefer to trust them first, to uphold her time-honored banner.

Much depends upon the organization and management of the party; now while in prosperity, to insure her harmony and power hereafter; and by placing such men only to control her affairs, as have by their unswerving devotion to principles, endeared themselves to her people, much of the danger otherwise to be apprehended, may be averted.

ocrats without the prefix of some mollifying, descriptive adjective, would be productive of evil, and evil only. Men who are not willing to be identified with her name, her traditions and history, be it through evil or good repute, are not worthy to be called one of her children, and do not merit the confidence of the great brotherhood.

Harrison County Criminal Court.

The Harrison County Criminal Court began its present session on the 17th inst and is still in session, His Honor W. E. Arthur, presiding. We had the good fortune to hear his charge to the Grand Jury and can say of a truth, that it was one of the most telling and forcible efforts of the kind we have ever heard; many parts of it having the ring of true eloquence. The Grand Jury after a session of only three days, adjourned for want of business—They found only nine indictments at this term, which is a less number than has ever been found by any grand jury of this county, within our memory. We understand that they made diligent and searching inquiry for all evil doers, and have demonstrated to a certainty that crime in Harrison county is on the decrease, and indeed we think it must be evident to any close observer that the people of the county, and especially of Cynthiana, have become morally better, and are in every sense of the word an order loving and law abiding people. We are proud to be able to record this fact in their favor.

Willis Renaker, (of color) was tried and sentenced to one year's confinement in the Penitentiary, for stealing one hundred dollars from one of his companions, but it seems that the jury thought there was some reason for executive clemency in his case, and so recommends to the Governor of Ky., who has forwarded to him a full pardon and he will be released to day.

The case of Jephtha Coppage, who was tried for Arson, was perhaps the most interesting case tried at this term of the court. It will be remembered that some months ago the Methodist (North and South) worshiping at the church in this county, called the Boyers Church, got into a quarrel about the occupation thereof. The developments on the trial showed that Coppage undertook to settle the dispute by burning down the church, for which the jury thought he ought to serve in the Penitentiary at Frankfort, for two years. He was ably defended by Messrs Trimble & Ward. The Commonwealth's Attorney, Chas. Duncan, made a vigorous and eloquent speech for the prosecution.

A woman named Sarah Wright, was tried for horse stealing, and we have an idea of our own, that if some man had stood in her shoes, he would have gone to the Penitentiary; most men are easily touched, when a woman is in the case, and it may be that if we had been on that jury, we too would have brought in a verdict of not guilty. Wm. Sleishman, was sentenced to confinement in the Penitentiary for one year, for stealing some articles from a house belonging to Wm. Conner. Wm. Cummins (of color) was fined two hundred dollars, for keeping a gambling house and in default of the payment thereof was sent to jail, to board it out with Squire Webb, at the rate of two dollars per day. John Asbury, (of color) was sentenced to confinement in the penitentiary for one year for stealing some jewelry and articles of clothing from a negro named Robert Raburn.

On Saturday morning the Judge from the Bench notified the Court of the death of James F. Ware clerk of the Harrison Circuit and Criminal Court, and thereupon adjourned the court, out of respect to his memory, to meet again on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

On Tuesday the Court again met and the case of Samuel Renaker, (of color) charged with the offense of attempting to commit violence on the person of Mrs. Kearns, a white woman, was tried. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at confinement in the county jail for one year, and also, to pay a fine of one hundred dollars. The court passed sentence Tuesday evening on all the prisoners convicted at this term. The Attorneys for Jephtha Coppage have applied to the Judges of the Court of Appeals for a new trial in his case. Court then adjourned to court in course.

Fearful Steamboat Disaster, — The MAGNOLIA Blown up.

One of the most terrible steamboat disasters that has occurred in this vicinity since the blowing up of the Moezie, took place yesterday, a short distance below California, at the mouth of Crawfish, and about seven miles up the river.

The ill-fated boat was the Magnolia, one of the regular Cincinnati and Maysville packets, and the most popular boat upon the line. She left her dock at the usual hour, 12 M., with, as is estimated, fully one hundred passengers on board, and in about an hour afterwards the explosion took place.

Several were rescued and taken to the shore at California. The following is, as near as we can ascertain, a list of their names, and their condition: L. E. Reiman, N. D. Ridenhour, Col. C. Marshall, Mrs. Albert N. Fulton, Rufus Martin and lady, Mrs. Wiles and daughter, Wm. D. Ross, slightly injured; T. Cox, editor Flemingsburg Democrat, C. D. Armstrong, same place; G. H. Huston, Berlin, Ky., slightly hurt; T. F. Jones, G. W. Kerr, Bridgeton, Ind., badly; Elliott, second clerk.

SAVED FROM THE WRECK.
Mr. Levi, Mrs. Baker, of Ripley, O., Mr. Prather, brother of the Captain; Mr. Evans; Jackson, the steward, saved, but badly injured; Henry Clark, messenger Adams Express Company, one leg broken below the knee; Lew Mills, first mate; and porter of the boat, J. Stevens, first Engineer, and B. Gardner, badly injured; G. L. Gillis, unhurt; W. Burton, bar-keeper, slightly injured; Thomas A. Curran, of Dover, Ky., slightly injured; J. M. Gilliland, of Ripley, two ribs broken; James Miller, badly scalded; J. B. Hawes, Minerva, Ky., shoulder broken and otherwise injured; Charles Lewis, of Iowa, frightful hole in the skull; George Wilder, of Higginsport, badly scalded; J. P. Lawill, of Aberdeen, scalded badly; R. M. Wall, of Cynthiana head scalded. —Cin. Eng.

By a letter to his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, of Lexington, we learn of the death, in a most cruel manner, of Dr. J. Cunningham, of Gonzales, Texas. The letter says he "was murdered by a lawless band of Federal soldiers, stationed at Gonzales, at the dead hour of midnight, on Sunday, the 25th of February." He was taken out of the hotel, marched a few steps therefrom, and by command of the officer in charge of the squad, shot. No cause for the killing of him is given in the letter. The officer who ordered and supervised his execution has been ordered under arrest, the letter states, and an investigation will be ordered. Dr. Cunningham's relatives live in Lexington and Fayette county.

In the negro convention at Richmond a constitutional amendment came very near being adopted on Thursday disfranchising all citizens who, at the election of members of the convention, voted against the radical candidates. The amendment was defeated, but only by a very small majority. It should have prevailed by all means. The new constitution will be incomplete without it. The negroes had better reconsider. Let them remember that the eyes of all Africa are upon them, and that Hayti expects every negro of them to do his duty. They should have had Stevens among them to shake his goblin finger at them and impel them up to their work.

It is stated that a disease known as "niggermania" is raging among the hogs of Tennessee. The hog sticks his hind foot into a nigger's fist, commences to squeal violently, jumps over the fence backwards, and dies in a few minutes, when he is taken to the darkey's shanty and devoured. The best remedy would be to discharge a load of shot, not exactly at the hog, but somewhere between the hog and the nigger, always being sure to come a little closer to the nigger than to the hog.

We met a lady in town the other day, a blood relation of ours and wife of a minister in this county, who has eaten nothing for five years. She takes no nourishment whatever, unless it be in fluid form, and very little then. It would take her all day to swallow a single cup of coffee, and at times she does not consume a teaspoonful in twenty four hours. She is in the enjoyment of good health, and attends to her household affairs as do other women. —Clark County Democrat.

The engineering corps of the Owensboro and Russellville Railroad are, we are glad to state progressing finely, having reached Calhoun. Their survey has been most careful and accurate. They return to this point by way of Livermore. —Owensboro Mon

Hays City, Kansas, has a population of twelve hundred. The first house was erected last September

A rumor was prevalent, a few days since, that Old Thad. was about "having in his cheeks," or, in other words, giving up the ghost. The price of sulphur fell, consequently; but as he had not fallen into the sulphuric pit, that article, at last accounts, had assumed its former quotations. There'll be a tremendous fall when the old man goes home. —Ex.

The Lexington Gazette understands that Capt. C. C. Morgan, brother of Gen. Morgan, will proceed to Richmond, Va., about the 1st of April, to bring the remains of his brother home for interment. It says that due notice will be given, and every preparation made to inter the remains of the distinguished soldier among his relations and friends in the cemetery at Lexington.

A new locomotive engine for common roads has been exhibited in Edinburg. It is set upon three wheels, weighs about five tons, and capable of going over the roughest road, climbing the steepest hills, and traveling over ploughed land with perfect ease.

A mare belonging to Martin Lydick of this county, gave foal to a colt on Sunday, Feb. 27th, to a second on the next Tuesday, and on Thursday following a third was added to the number. Geo. Times.

During January, no less than 141 ships carrying the British flag were lost. In connection with these losses the number of lives which perished are greatly in excess of those of former disastrous years.

Mr. Stanton took advantage of the balmy weather of the 15th to give himself another airing. He promenade around the War Department square for an hour or more, accompanied by his little boy, and with an armed soldier following closely at his heels.

Covington Markets.

CATTLE—The supply of cattle is light, and prices continue about the same as quoted in our last report, viz: $5 to 8 per 100 lbs.
SHEEP—There is a good demand for sheep. Prices ranging from 4 to 6 dollars per 100 pounds.
HOGS—The market is quiet, with prices ranging from 7.50 to 9 dollars per 100 lbs.

Debility and Emaciation.

Both result from the lack of ability to convert the food into nutriment. How necessary, then, for those suffering from these alarming symptoms to immediately resort to a remedy that will strengthen the stomach and digestive organs. For, as soon as this desirable object has been accomplished, the health improves, and the patient resumes his usual personal appearance. HOS-TETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS have obtained a world-wide popularity. In such cases, and have been proven the best and safest means of removing constipation, toning the stomach, giving energy to the liver and relieving every symptom of nervousness and depression of spirits. Its cheering and beneficial effects are highly spoken of by thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health. No restorative in the annals of medicine has attained the same popularity in the short space of time. It has been before the public, or has won the high endorsements accorded to this excellent tonic. Many other preparations, purporting to be correctives and restoratives, have been introduced, and have perished one by one, while the popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters continues to increase, and is now recognized as a standard household medicine. The success which attends the use of the Bitters, even in its infancy, in all cases of debility and diseases of the stomach. Certificates, almost without number, have been published, attesting its truly miraculous power in removing those painful and fearful diseases. And at this time it seems idle to do more than call attention to the great remedy of the age, in order to awaken public attention to its excellence. It is the best preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it is therefore worthy of the consideration of the afflicted.

Our good looking and accommodating Circuit Clerk, W. S. Wall, will accept our thanks for late favors.

Mr. John Lally, of the "Magnolia" saloon, will receive our thanks for sundry favors. Johnny knows his business.

It will be seen by reference to an advertisement in another column, that Mr. T. R. Rankin, will sell his valuable hotel property in this city, on May court day.

Mr. J. R. Warnock has located in this city, and is carrying on a first-class livery and sale stable. If any of our young gents wish to get a fine turnout, let them call on him, for he keeps none but the best.

We notice the carpenters and painters at work on Thos. English's new business house on Pike street. When it is finished, it will be occupied by our friend Wash. Cragmyle, as a saloon.

Richard Collins, Esq., for many years the editor of the Maysville "Eagle," in the good old days of Whiggery, made a flying visit to the "city of the Maidens," last week. "Should our acquaintance be forgot?" &c.

The vacancy in the Circuit Court Clerkship occasioned by the death of James F. Ware, has been filled by Judge Doniphan, by the appointment of W. S. Wall.

Lacy and Cragmyle are now open and in full blast. The handsome young salesman T. D. Woodward will be found behind the counter, ready and willing to wait on the customers. See their advertisement in another column.

A protracted meeting will be commenced at the Christian Church in this city, on the 1st Sunday in May. The meeting will be conducted by Elder P. B. Wiles of Covington.

Rev. R. A. Holland will deliver a lecture on Jerusalem, on the evening of the 20th of April, at the M. E. church, in this city. His great reputation as an orator will create a great interest to hear him speak.

We are pleased to notice that our young friend J. Lawrence Dickerson has taken a position as salesman, in the large and fashionable Dry-goods House of C. W. DeLand, opposite Pike's Hall, 74 and 76, West Fourth street Cincinnati, Ohio, where his friends will please call and see him. Mch26-4w

On last Monday morning, a couple of fine mares were discovered on Indian creek, near its mouth, with their throats cut. We have not learned whose property they were. Any person that would be guilty of so disgraceful an act, ought to have their own throats served the same way.

The following marriage licenses were issued by our county court clerk, during the past month: James A. Hill, to Miss S. E. Jackson, A. Skinner, to Miss J. Asbury, M. Browning, to Miss Jo Edwards, E. M. Marshall, to Miss E. A. Barnett, L. Riadon, to Miss N. Stevens, Jno Price, to Miss W. F. Huls, G. Fryman, to Miss J. E. Worrell.

Seven marriage licenses are hardly sufficient for this county per month. A revival in this institution is much needed, and we hope to see many more of our young people falling into matrimonial habits, than heretofore.

We are authorized to announce Mr. George Lemmon as a candidate for re-election to the office of Mayor, on the first Saturday in April next.

Mr. C. G. Land is disposing of his dry goods at greatly reduced prices. In fact he will sell his calico and ladies dress patterns to suit purchasers. His gents' furnishing goods he offers very low. dec26

Notice.—A punctual man is rarely a very poor man, and never a man of doubtful credit. His small accounts are frequently settled, and he never meets with difficulty in raising money to pay large demands. Small debts neglected ruin credit; and when a man has lost that, he will find himself at the bottom of a hill he cannot ascend.

Now, gentlemen, please come forward, and settle your small accounts, with yours, C. T. DEILING. Feb6-6t MARRIED. At the Planter's House, Covington, Ky., on the 17th inst. Mr. Samuel Lavessque to Mrs. Sophia West, all of this county.

DIED. On the morning of the 21st, after a protracted illness, James F. Ware, Clerk of the Harrison Circuit Court.

In Memoriam. Died in Sedalia Saturday the 8th inst., at a quarter before 3 o'clock P. M., Mrs. Clara Skinner, wife of Mr. James W. Skinner, aged 21 years, 8 months and 5 days.

Mrs. Skinner was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Yantis of this city. She was a lady of rare christian virtues, possessed of great sweetness of temper and a loving spirit, peculiarly fitted to adorn the various relations of life as daughter, sister, wife, mother and friend, she was ever the same gentle confiding one. She was the child of affliction, but she bore, uncomplainingly, her protracted sufferings, until the "weary wheels of life stood still" when she fell asleep to awake in the likeness of her trusted Savior, leaving an affectionate husband, an infant, (who can never know the depths of his Angel Mother's love) weeping parents, loving, heartbroken sisters, sorrowing brothers and a large circle of devoted friends to cherish her memory, and to hallow the place where they laid her, with the tears of an undying affection.

Clerical since thou art gone, there creeps in to our heart A shuddering consciousness of pain; We felt the joy of life with thee depart, And we sit dreaming o'er and o'er again Thy feeble clasp, thy parting look and tone; And suddenly we awake—and are alone. Let roses garland her grave, and from her sacred dust let violets spring. H. —Democratic Press, Sedalia [Mo.]

VALUABLE CITY PROPERTY,

One of the Best Hotel Stands

in Kentucky,

FOR SALE.

IT WILL BE REMEMBERED that last summer I advertised my Hotel for sale. It was then, and still believed by many, that I would not sell it, even if I was offered my price for it. Such is not the fact. I have determined to quit the hotel business and move to the country. I will on the 11th Day of May next,

(It being County-Court Day) offer for sale to the highest bidder, my HOTEL and all of the Furniture, and fixtures belonging to it. If not sold privately before.

It would be unnecessary for me to say anything in reference to the reputation of the house, as it is well known to be one of the best hotels in the interior of Kentucky, with a much larger run of custom, both transient and boarders than any house ever kept in Cynthiana. The house is capable of accommodating 200 persons, and all in good repair. The house is entirely new and built of the best material, upon the best foundation of any house in the county, with cellars 8 feet deep under the entire building. There is upon the premises a well of never-failing water, and a cistern that holds 600 barrels of water, also the largest ice-house in the county full of ice. There is also an elegant barbe shop in the basement. The lot upon which the hotel stands is about 110 feet front by 208 feet deep. I will also at the same time and place sell one lot on Pike street 24 feet front by 101 feet deep, adjoining the lot upon which Judge Curry is preparing to erect a beautiful residence. Also, the following described lots, viz:

4 lots on Pike street 23 feet front by 104 feet deep;

1 lot on Pike street 25 feet front by 101 feet deep;

1 lot on Pike street 30 feet front by 104 feet deep;

Also 1 lot on Walnut street 52 feet front by 91 feet deep with a comfortable brick and frame residence with 4 rooms. This will make a desirable home for a small family. Also one lot adjoining the above, 52 feet front by 91 feet deep; this lot has no improvements upon it except a small stable.

I would say for the benefit of the purchaser of this Hotel, that the receipts of the house for one year will pay over 25 per cent. more than I am willing to take for the hotel and all the fixtures.

Those who wish to purchase, can call and examine the premises, and I will take great pleasure in waiting on them.

TERMS OF SALE.

For the Hotel, 1/2 of the purchase money will be required in hand, the balance in two annual payments thereafter, bearing interest of 6 per cent. from date. The purchaser will be required to keep an insurance of $10,000 on the house and furniture until the second payment is made; after the second payment he will be required to keep $5,000 insurance until the third and last payment is made.

The lots Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, on Pike street will be sold for one half in cash, and the balance in six months.

The 2 lots on Walnut street will be sold for cash in hand.

Possession will be given immediately, and a general warranty deed to all the above property, reserving a lien until all the purchase money is paid.
